Murder and Suicide at Easter Service

By ED MARTIN

COVE (M)—Moments after pretty Helen Griffith left a choir and went to a pew in a church here last night, six pistol shots blasted the 20-year-old girl fell fatally wounded into the aisle.

The shots were fired through a window of the Hilltop Holiness Church in this west Arkansas mountain town. Another member of the congregation, a 61-year-old man, was wounded in the leg during the firing.

Several persons rushed to the door in time to see a man leap into a pickup truck and flee.

Little more than an hour later, officers here were notified that Haskell Sullivan, 25, a rejected suitor of the dead girl, had killed himself in front of his brother's house at Nano Chito, Okla., 20 miles across the Arkansas-Oklahoma border from Cove.

Sheriff's officers of McCurtain County, Okla., said Sullivan's body was found in his pickup truck outside the home of J. L. Sullivan.

He had been shot between the eyes with a .22 pistol, apparently the same weapon which killed Miss Griffith, officers reported.

Sullivan left a note. It said: "I killed Helen and I'm going with her."

Officers said the blonde, blue-eyed girl was shot twice in the face and twice in the back.

During the fusillade, members of the congregation said, Miss Griffith staggered upright and then pitched forward into the aisle.

The murder-suicide shattered the pre-Easter serenity of this small community.

The Rev. Mrs. E. L. Blake, pastor of the church, said "things happened so quickly that everyone was stunned."

"Helen had just finished singing in the choir," the pastor said. "They had just sung 'What a Friend We Have in Jesus.'"

"Then," the Rev. Mrs. Blake continued, "she went to her pew and sat down beside young Rev. Gene Davis, who lives here in Cove and was helping with our services."

Walter Manley, 65, one of the congregation, told City Marshal Burl Brown he saw a man step up to a window just before the shots were fired but "didn't think anything about it."

About 40 adults and a number of children were at the revival-type Good Friday service, the Rev. Mrs. Blake said.

Getting in a Little Practice

THRILL OF EASTER has Debbie and Becky Moore, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Moore Jr., out getting in a little practice. Yep, that's an egg, and you can keep all you find, says Debbie who is giving Becky the advantage of her experience. Of course, the new dresses and bonnets are all part of Easter.

Statement by Ike Is Called an 'Error'

WASHINGTON (M)—President Eisenhower's off-the-ruff remark that "about half the income of the farmer is from federal subsidy" was in error, the White House says.

Eisenhower made the remark Wednesday during a news conference discussion of farm problems.

He said at the time the agriculture budget up to some five billion dollars a year and that he had been informed this averages out to more than $1,000 a farm family "that the United States is paying in some form of subsidy."

Eisenhower's comment was challenged by farm senators of both parties.

Yesterday, the White House said the five billion dollar figure is right for the government's farm budget in the coming fiscal year, starting July 1, and that this represents almost half the new income farmers receive.

But the White House said the five billions is not all for subsidies.

At the same time Secretary of Agriculture Benson told a news conference it was incorrect to say the full amount of his department's budget goes to the farmer. Benson said about half goes either for benefits to others, for repayable to farmers or for expenditures that he said could more properly be charged against foreign aid.

Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) took a similar position, telling the Senate anticipated direct payments to farmers in the coming fiscal year total $1,291,000,000. He said he was "clarified" the President's remark.

But Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) was not mollified.

"I protest his putting his foot in his mouth so frequently," Morse said to Eisenhower.

Christians to Celebrate on Easter Sunday

By The Associated Press

Christians throughout the world celebrate tomorrow the joyous holiday of Easter, commemorating the resurrection of Christ.

Millions of worshippers will throng churches in cities, towns and villages to pray in the name of the Prince of Peace.

In old Jerusalem, because of the atmosphere of suspicion and hostility which grips the Middle East, only hundreds instead of the usual thousands of pilgrims will take part in ceremonies.

In Rome, Pope Pius XI will give his annual Easter message to the world. For the first time the Pontiff's message will be televised for Europe. Also, it will be broadcast via Vatican Radio and 14 European networks in 28 languages, and later will be picked up by American, Canadian and British broadcasting systems.

In the United States, regular church services will be supplemented by scores of sunrise ceremonies in various sections of the nation.

For small children, it will be the happy day to find the brightly colored eggs the Easter bunny has hidden.

For their sisters and mothers, it will be the day to don new spring finery for the Easter parades after church.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower, vacationing in Augusta, Ga., will be among the millions of Americans attending services.

In Washington, sunrise services will be held at Walter Reed Army Medical Center for the 30th year. Traditional sunrise services at Arlington National Cemetery will be attended by government officials and broadcast nationally by NBC.

Postmaster General Arthur Sumner will give the prayer. Catholic and Protestant services will give the prayers.

Sniper in Car Shoots at Trio

DENISON, Tex. (M)—A sniper in a passing car last night fired a shotgun blast at three young Negroes playing in front of a housing development here, spattering them with pellets.

Police identified the three wounded children as Arthur Gable, 14, Rub Jo Ricks 10, and Henry Sam Ricks, 13.

Officers said they were not seriously hurt, although each suffered "half a dozen or more pellet wounds" on the arms, legs and body. They were being treated at a hospital here.

The blast was the latest in a series of demonstrations in the Negro teen-agers were charged with raping a 17-year-old white girl April 17. The previous demonstrations were limited to rock throwing, however, and caused no injuries.

People Can Change Any Form of Government

Advocates of the City-Manager form of government indicated today that various questions had arisen from interested citizens as to certain details in its application. Some of these questions with answers are as follows:

1. What would keep the City-Manager from building a political machine of his own? Answer: Although the manager's authority over administration is complete, the council has power to dismiss him should his work prove unsatisfactory, just as the board of directors of any organization may dismiss its hired manager.

The manager cannot build up a political machine of his own because the immediate and perpetual jealousy of his employer, the council, would result in his discharge.

2. Will the new manager release those persons holding offices that were elective under the old plan, such as City Clerk, Treasurer, and City Attorney?

Answer: These officers would be necessary under any form of City government. Persons now holding those offices would continue under the new system. The manager plan brings no wholesale dismissals.

In most new manager cities there have been no dismissals at all during the first year. Employees are hired according to ability and get promotions and raises on merit. Efficiency and security would be the outcome of taking these jobs out of politics.

3. What would we do if we found out we didn't like the City Manager's Form of Government?

Answer: In the event, that for some reason, it is found that this plan

Says Mulberry Tree Puffs Smoke

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Little Rock housewife didn't know what to think this morning when a mulberry tree in her backyard appeared to have smoke puffing out of its branches.

Fascinated, Mrs. Verdiana Brown watched the phenomenon for a while and convinced the tree was puffing smoke in little wisps like a person exhaling cigarette smoke, she called a policeman.

"I don't know anything about horticulture and didn't want anyone to think I'm crazy," she said.

Paulman Gene Adeock scratched his head and said to her, "I'll call the newspaper. Somebody else ought to see this thing."

A breadman, a milkman, a reporter and a photographer all witnessed the "smoking" mulberry tree.

State Forester Fred Lang took a look. He couldn't say definitely what caused the smoke like wisps emitted from the branches, except to rule out that the tree had a nicotine habit.

"Like humans," he said, "a diseased tree can do some odd things."

Man Buys a Town, Now Its Booming

MUDDY, Ill. (AP) — This once-deserted mining town, revived through the efforts of a former general store and night club owner who bought almost the entire town, now is a liquor oasis in a dry southern Illinois county.

Its citizens voted 36-2 yesterday to legalize the sale of liquor in Muddy. All the town's eligible voters live in houses owned by John Molinarolo, a stocky, 33-year-old former coal miner.

A tavern or night club in Muddy, population 125, apparently would be a thriving business.

It was decided to have a cake walk Thursday night May 9.

The candidates from Victory Club who are planning to run for office of the county 4-H Council stood and gave their qualifications for office.

The club members again decided to have only one meeting each month.

The meeting was adjourned to meet May 9. The new member was Suzie Dean.

Rock Hudson Great as Heroic 'Battle Hymn' Flying Parson

Rock Hudson portrays Col. Dean Hess, famous flying parson, and Martha Hyer is his wife in "Battle Hymn," Universal-International picture in Technicolor and CinemaScope, in which Hudson is starred and Miss Hyer co-starred.

No actor alive could have been more perfectly cast than Rock Hudson as Col. Dean Hess, the heroic "flying parson" in "Battle Hymn," the exciting humanitarian epic in Technicolor and CinemaScope which comes to the Saenger theater Sunday from Universal-International.

A story of blood, sweat, tears and laughter, there has never been anything like "Battle Hymn" on the screen. It tells of an ordained minister who gave a far greater message to the world from the battlefields and the orphan tents of Korea than he could ever have given from his pulpit in Marietta, Ohio.

The authenticity of this picture rings like a huge clear bell. Hess himself, who lived the exploits so faithfully portrayed in this life story of the fighter ace of two wars, was technical adviser on the film. Hudson, who had the opportunity to work with his hero, turns in a hard-hitting, poignant performance which will go down in screen history.

Don Duryea, as the First Sergeant who laughs his way through Hudson's troubles, Don DeFore, Jack Mahoney and James Edwards, fellow pilots of the "One-man Air Force," all give Rock a magnificent assist. Martha Hyer, as Hudson's wife, portrays her role of an eternal understanding woman with tenderness and great compassion. Anna Kashfi, Indian star who plays the role of the orphanage directress, displays an acting talent that, combined with her unique beauty, establishes her as a certainty for stardom in Hollywood as well as in her native India.

One of the most interesting sidelights of the film concerns 25 personalities never before seen in a movie. These are little war orphans, most of whom Hess himself rescued in Korea during an air fight of 1,000 youngsters out of the battle zone, brought to America by U-I to portray themselves. Outstanding among these is the little five-year old clown, Jungkyoo Pyo, who becomes a favorite of Hudson's and Miss Kashfi.

Produced by Ross Hunter and directed by Douglas Sirk with rare sympathy and understanding, the screen story by Charles Grayson and Vincent B. Evans covers the same incidents related by Col. Hess in his own bestseller, which is also titled "Battle Hymn."

But Molinarolo and his son John Jr. apparently believe a liquor store would be just as lucrative—and perhaps arise less opposition from vocal dry forces in the area.

"The Village Council already has passed an ordinance restricting sales to packaged liquor," John Jr. said last night.

"We expect to open the store after the 30-day state waiting period, barring legal complications."

The won't have any local competition.

The council limited the number of liquor licenses to one and restricted sales to a zone occupied by a building the Molinarolos now rent out for special occasions.

The elder Molinarolo, as village president, also becomes liquor commissioner under state law. By the way, he and the six-man council all won re-election without opposition yesterday.

Doc's Not Making Passes — Just Feeling Your Pulse

Dear Dorothy Dix: We're two girls in love with two boys who are very close friends. They never call us for a date; we always call them. They say if we like them enough we won't mind calling. Also, they never spend money on us.

Our mothers say we should go out with other boys, that these two aren't treating us right.

Dear Fritz and Bess: Are you bragging or complaining? Give a little thought to your self-respect instead of being so proud at satisfying the male ego. In short, stop being doormats.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've always dreamed of a guy who would sweep

Miss Dorothy Wortham returned to her home in West Memphis on Tuesday after a visit with her sister, Mrs. L. L. Buchanan and family and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. I. Wortham, in Gurdon.

Miss Mary Jewelle Herring was the guest of Miss Rose Marie Robinson of Little Rock Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Baker of Malvern were the guests Monday of Mrs. J. B. Ritchie and Mrs. Gladys Bull.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cox and Carolyn Ann of Omaha, Neb., were the Monday overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gentry of Hope were Monday night dinner guests in the Thomas home.

me off my feet. We'd hot-rod off in his souped-up car and then I'd have someone all my own to love and take care of. He'd send tingles up and down my spine. Am I chasing rainbows? Mom says it isn't a case of whom a girl wants to marry, but what she can get.

Dear Harriet: And the truth comes somewhere between your romantic ideal and Mom's slightly cynical view. When your prince does come along — in a hot-rod, bus or maybe even walking — even if he's just an ordinary guy, he'll wear a suit of shining armor as far as you're concerned.

Bide your time, dream all you like, keep the stars in your eyes, and don't lose your romanticism altogether. Just temper it.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We are three normal teenagers who love Elvis like most normal teenagers. We know grown-ups don't like him particularly, but after all they have Liberace and Harry Belafonte. The kids flip over Micky Mouse, so why can't we have Elvis?

When you were young you probably had an idol like Frank Sinatra. We wish adults would learn to appreciate new talent.

THREE E. P. FANS

Dear E. P. Fans: You almost convert me! I've had lots of teen-age mail about Elvis the great, but yours is the only letter that's been written well and with restraint. It nice kids like you stick up for Elvis, he must be all right.

Correction please: It was Rudy Vallee, not Frank Sinatra, who kept me glued to the radio when I should have been learning Latin verbs.

Notice to Voters of Hope

We, the undersigned former Aldermen of the City of Hope, Arkansas, having served in the past on the City Council under its present Mayor-Aldermanic form of government, wish to take this opportunity to tell the citizens of Hope, that it is our considered opinion that the City Manager form of government which has been proposed is a progressive step which should be taken at this time by our city.

It is our collective opinion that the present City Council has done a commendable job, equally as good if not better than prior councils; however, it is also our collective opinion that the citizens of Hope should on April 24th, adopt the City Manager form of government as a necessary step to keep the City of Hope abreast of the progressive movement which our entire state is now engaged in.

We feel that the placing of our Water & Light Plant operation under a Permanent Commission was a most progressive step, and should now be followed by the adoption of the City Manager form of government, and we all hope to see in the near future a joint City-County Planning Commission, all of which steps we believe will stimulate the industrial growth of our area, a thing which has long been sought, but in the main thwarted in the past.

We, the undersigned, make this statement of our position because we feel that the opinions of persons having served in the past on the City Council under the present form of government might be helpful to the citizens in reaching their decision on this matter.

Respectfully submitted,
